

March 22 – 23, 2013

Call for Participation

The Michigan Celebration of Women in Computing is a conference for students, faculty, and industry professionals. Join us at Calvin College (located in Grand Rapids) to learn about opportunities in the computing field!

Undergraduate and Graduate Students:

- Come meet other students and professionals, build your network, and talk to other people interested in tech!
- Learn about career choices and graduate study.
- Attend a career and graduate school fair.
- Submit a research paper or poster for publication and gain experience presenting (see our Web site for ideas)!
- Submit a proposal for a five-minute lightning talk or a topic for small group discussion (Birds of a Feather).

Professionals in academia and industry:

- Attend and share your experiences with students by serving as a panelist or through informal interactions.
- Topics of interest include careers, graduate study, work/life balance, etc.
- Submit a proposal for a five-minute lightning talk or a topic for small group discussion (Birds of a Feather).
- Share information about your company or programs during a career fair.

Submission deadline: March 1, 2013

Please visit <http://www.cse.msu.edu/micwic> for more information.

www.facebook.com/micwic.conference
www.twitter.com/micwic